My hobby

January 13, 2008 · Filed under Uncategorized

My hobby

My hobby is reading. I like to read story books and geography books. I can learn about people and their ways of living from them. I have a small library. It is made up of books which my mother and aunt present. I read the daily papers that come my way. We must learn to choose good reading material. We must not read bad books which fill our minds with bad ideas. We must get help from our parents and teachers when we choose books to read. Good books can give us a lot of help whereas bad books may do a great deal of harm. We must learn to choose books well and read what is useful and good.
